

7th September 2014

Dear parents.

We hope that you have had a good and pleasant vacation filled with rest and joy, and that you ready for an exciting year offering our students new challenges to meet and knowledge horizons to explore.

At the department of Islamic studies, we are keen on planting the seeds of Islamic teaching in order to offer our students a solid ethical foundation which is of paramount importance to the right development of their personalities. GEMS institution offers the highest standards of education taking into account the potential of each student by offering a wide variety of teaching methods and technics in order to help them meet expectations relieving them from any form of pressure. On the same lines, the department of Islamic studies is eager to achieve the highest rates of success by following the curriculum set by the ministry of education along with a number of extra-curricular activities involving both parents and students such as the Qur'an competition, Hajj celebration, and Islamic knowledge competition.

We will be communication through the daily diary, and the weekly newsletter posted on Weebly website. <http://jumeirahprimary.weebly.com/>

We are pleased to introduce our Islamic team
